Yolanda

9:36am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Yolanda

Curriculum should be driven at the heart by the standards and vision for your school and ALL stakeholders should be believers!

9:37am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Kortni

Curriculum should be planned (UDL), aligned, documented, shared, and implemented. That would be nice.

9:37am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Scott

Curriculum should be a plan with set incremental benchmarks for student learning that begins in Pre-K and continues up through 12th Grade

9:37am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Daly

It should be a common roadmap for teachers to have the same learning targets and big picture objectives.

9:37am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by SarahBee

Curriculum IS what you use to DRIVE instruction and HELP students hit their learning targets and IMPROVE TEST SCORES (not the sole focus)

9:37am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Ruth

To guide instruction and to ensure the CCSS are truly being taught.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Yolanda

we have a curriculum night but otherwise don't really communicate it much to the public, there hasn't really been much demand

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Dan

Curriculum should be used to plan, teach, assess, and reevaluate so students can all be successful.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Amanda

Curriculum should not be a mystery to parents; if we want them to support their children's learning, we support their understanding.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Ginni

Curriculum should be aligned with standards and shared with all stakeholders.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Sarah

It should be relevant, easy for parents and students to understand and have authentic assessment.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Cozy

K-12 Science curriculum is in the midst of big changes with NGSS/MSS.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Rich_RESA

In a simple and organized fashion so that it has value because everyone understands what the curriculum itself means.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Nafissah

It should be vertically aligned..(esp. across a district) it should be developed with the end in mind!

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Kortni

curriculum should drive all the decisions about instruction—once there is a clear mission, vision, and purpose.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Linda

It should be easy enough for students to understand.

9:38am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Therese

I believe that there should be clear objectives aligned to the standards in an outline format so that parents will know what is expected.

9:39am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Lisa

Curriculum is the framework for the instruction. It needs to be understandable, relevant, doable.

9:39am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Laura

Mission a vision should be clear from kindergarten to 12th grade.

9:39am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by chip

It is the overall encompassing educational experience of the overall school instructional population (teachers and students)

9:40am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by PQ

It's an overall spectrum of learning—Math, ELA, Science, SS,—Curriculum Nights, Field Trips....etc

9:40am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Doll

The curriculum should be a framework that is carefully organized by scope and sequence and in unit form utilizing UBD and aligned

9:40am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Lisa

It should be clear easily accessible to parents, students, and teachers. A community Curriculum will be more effective.

9:41am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Tina to the standards.

9:41am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Lisa

Curriculum should be clear and organized standards. Parents should be able to understand the curriculum.

9:41am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by ELA

10:35am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by James

The Novi Template Rocks. If we could have something like that, it would be great.

10:59am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Ruth

It's helpful to know that we can remove/alter the different categories in Rubicon to fit OUR school districts.

10:59am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Nafissah

I liked the Plymouth template—it would be a good starting point

11:00am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Linda

I think this will take some getting used to in the district, but the Plymouth—Canton template looks like a great way to get started

11:00am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Amanda

We are looking at the Oakland templates....we like what we see!!

11:00am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Laura

I like the organization of the template

11:01am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Doll

I was trying to explain to the ORA Instructional Coaches that we can customize our unit template so the multiple examples were great!

11:01am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Yolanda

very helpful. I have a better understanding of "Curriculum" and how it should be designed to improve the student, staff and the community.

11:01am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Bacon

Novi vision for unit planning where teachers reflect on Atlas aligns well with what I had in mind for using Engage NY at my school

11:01am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Kortni

Good way to get all the teachers organized.

11:01am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by Terri

what fits us & not just putting a bunch of stuff on there but what would teachers need training on, most effective/prod. for teachers/stude

11:02am, Mon, Jun 27, 2016 by PQ

Science note: NGSS/MSS are grade level K-5, then grade banded for MS (6-8) and HS (9-12). Really important to have Ts unpack & align first.
